Biographical Note

The Norman E. Himes Archive is a collection of correspondence and related materials; manuscripts of books, articles, and speeches; and miscellaneous papers presented to the Countway Library in 1967 by Dr. Himes' second wife and widow, Mrs. Robert C. Weinberg of New York and Ridgefield, Connecticut.

Norman Himes was a teacher-scholar in the field of sociology and economics, whose avid interest in social reforms and cultural developments led to study in the areas of population problems; history of contraception and the birth control movement; marriage and family relations. He was an immensely productive and creative man of great energy and the archive is rich in materials relating to his research, writing, and teaching activities. Dated items are from 1918 to 1956, but the bulk of the collection falls between 1925 and 1950--a neat 25-year period during which time attitudes toward the subjects of Dr. Himes' work changed in the most dramatic manner.

For a man of modest financial means who rarely had the luxury of secretarial services, Dr. Himes (with the help of his first wife, Vera) carried on an amazingly extensive correspondence with a variety of people and organizations, and a number of subjects, and of both professional and personal natures. The flow of correspondence is with leaders in the academic world (sociologists, economists, historians, professional groups), the birth control and eugenics world (medical practitioners, lay figures, clinics, national and local organizations), the book world (dealers, collectors, libraries, publishers, editors of journals), and in many other areas (including religion, government, law). It reflects public and private sentiment and much "inside gossip" about subjects which were somewhat tainted, to say the least, but gradually became accepted and even respectable.

During World War II, Dr. Himes left the scholarly world for government service which he continued in Germany during the postwar period, specializing in adult education and youth programs. He was on the verge of retirement and (hopefully) return to work on several of his unfinished research projects--chief among which were books on a Social and Economic History of Contraception and Preparation for Marriage--when he had his fatal heart attack in June of 1949.

Scope And Content

The Norman E. Himes Papers, 1918-1956 (inclusive), 1925-1950 (bulk), consist of correspondence files, manuscripts of books, articles, and speeches, and additional records produced by Himes' research, writing, and teaching activities. Correspondence is with sociologists, economists, historians, medical practitioners and lay figures prominent in the birth control movement, individuals in the publishing business, and other colleagues and personal friends. Subject files pertain to the medical history of contraception; the Carver festschrift; his contributions to Marriage Hygiene, a journal published in India; the course on marriage and the family that he taught at Colgate; and his books and research projects. Personal correspondence concerns his academic career, with some other material relating to his military and government service, and documents, photographs, and bibliographies. Manuscript files include typescripts, notes, drafts, and published and unpublished articles and books, pamphlets, and contributions to books. The collection also contains material, 1919-1925, from Harvard, such as lecture and reading notes, syllabi, and course papers; class record books, 1930-1940; student papers and course materials; clippings; reprints; and phonograph record, 1946, on German youth. Correspondents include: Percy Clark, Harry Cutner, Earl Hamilton, Stella Hanau, Frank Hankins (1877-1970), Marie Kopp, Emily Mudd, Margaret Sanger, Joseph Spengler, Christopher Tietze (1908-), Robert Weinberg, and Joseph Zborowski.

Notes for National Organizations File

- ABCE: see also Margaret Sanger materials under Individual Correspondence; Birth Control Review materials under Journals File
- AES: Included in this file are some materials relating to the Eugenics Research Association and the Eugenics Records Office. see also Eugenical News and Eugenics materials under Journals Files
- ASHA: see also Journal of Social Hygiene materials under Journals File
- ASS: see also American Sociological Review under Journals File
- BCCRB: see also Margaret Sanger materials under Individual Correspondence; Journal of Contraception materials under Journals File
- BCFA: see also Human Fertility materials under Journals File
- Eugenics Society (London): see also Eugenics Review materials under Journals File
- NCMH: This file is one of the most important collections of correspondence and related materials in the Himes Archive and is especially valuable for the insight it gives into NEH's research and publishing activities. All of Dr. Robert L. Dickinson's and Louise S. Bryant's letters are gathered here, even those written after they were no longer active with the Committee. Himes' work on The Medical History of Contraception dominates the correspondence, beginning in the 1929 folder and until subsidized publication with Williams & Wilkins was arranged in 1936.
- Population Association of America: see also Guy Irving Burch materials under Individual Correspondence
- Social Science Research Council: see also Social Science Abstracts materials under Journals File

General Note: Notes for Publishers

- Allen & Unwin: Correspondence is mostly with Mr. Standley Unwin. Besides publishing the above-mentioned NEH books, they also considered his plans for or manuscripts of the Mill book, Guide to Birth Control Literature, Essays on Birth Control, Knowlton's Fruits of Philosophy, etc.
- John Day Company: Correspondence is mostly with Richard J. Walsh and Critchell Rimington. They rejected an American edition of Guide to Birth Control Literature in 1931 and Medical History of Contraception in 1934.
- Farrar & Rinehart: Correspondence is with John Farrar, Stanley M. Rinehart, Jr., and others
- Harper and Brothers: They rejected Medical History of Contraception in 1934 and a proposed NEH marriage textbook in 1937. They published Men, Groups, and the Community, to which NEH contributed in 1940.
- Houghton Mifflin Company: They published the American edition of Place on Population in 1930 and rejected Medical History of Contraception in 1935. Correspondence also concerns sociology and marriage textbooks.
- McGraw-Hill: Early correspondence concerns rejections of Mill book in 1931 and Medical History of Contraception in 1934, textbooks for sociology courses, and NEH proposed textbook on marriage and the family for Sociology Series. This latter project evolved into the Preparation for Marriage textbook which NEH was editing in 1940-1942 but which was interrupted by the war and his subsequent government service and never published.
- Modern Age: A paperback book publisher which sold great numbers of copies through newsstand sales. Correspondence is largely with Louis M. Birk, managing editor, who also became a personal friend.
- Peter Pauper Press: Peter Beilenson produced finely designed publications through the Walpole Printing Office and this Press, the latter publishing NEH's edition of Knowlton's Fruits of Philosophy in 1937. Correspondence also concerns the Carver Festschrift and Medical History of Contraception.
- Vanguard Press: They rejected an American edition of Guide to Birth Control Literature in 1931 and their plan for publication of Medical History of Contraception was turned down by the NCMH in 1934.
- Viking Press: Later correspondence is with Marshall A. Best, mostly about Practical Birth Control Methods which they took over from Modern Age.
- Watts & Company: Correspondence concerns NEH collection of birth control materials in 1927-1928 and Essays on Birth Control in 1931-1932, which publication they would undertake only with complete subsidy.
- Williams & Norgate: Owned by Allen & Unwin and also published books under its subsidiary, Noel Douglas. They rejected publication of Essays on Birth Control and an English edition of The Truth about Birth Control in 1931.
- Williams & Wilkins: Correspondence is largely with Robert S. Gill, Treasurer
- see also Marriage Hygiene materials under Subject Files for correspondence with publishers re review books.

General Note: Notes for Individual Correspondence

- Dr. Percy LeMon Clark, Jr.: The correspondence with Dr. Clark is particularly interesting.
- Harry Cutner: An artist with book collecting interests similar to Himes. The letters after 1946 are mostly of a personal nature.
- Earl J. Hamilton: Himes and Hamilton kept up a very active correspondence, particularly from 1926 through 1935, in which they exchanged news of research, publications, academic careers, etc.
- Stella Hanau: She became a personal friend and the letters here and in the Birth Control Review file contain much inside gossip about the birth control world.
- Frank H. Hankins: The letters in this file are mostly of a personal nature from 1945 through 1949.
- Marie E. Kopp: This file includes 1935 correspondence with E. B. Wilson about her birth control case history study.
- Emily Mudd: This correspondence contains a wealth of detail about NEH's work in the marriage and family field.
- Margaret Sanger: All of the important Sanger materials have been gathered together in this file, whether she wrote on the letterhead of the American Birth Control League, National Committee for Federal Legislation on Birth Control, Birth Control Clinical Research Bureau, or whichever of several Conferences that she headed. The file also includes correspondence with her secretaries, Anna Lifshiz and Florence Rose. Although the earliest materials in the file concern NEH's proposed study of the English birth control movement and include letters of introduction dated 1926, it is probable that Himes had met Mrs. Sanger in 1924 when she spoke before the Harvard Liberal Club.
- Joseph J. Spengler: Himes and Spengler kept up an active exchange of news about their various population research projects. In 1936-1937 they wrote about collaborating on a population problems textbook but nothing came of it.
- Dr. christopher Tietze: His first contact with Himes was as European editor of Marriage Hygiene. NEH encouraged him to immigrate to the United States and they became personal friends.
- Robert C. Weinberg: NEH's widow, Marian Bailey Himes, became Mrs. Robert C. Weinberg.
- Joseph and Hazel Zborowski: Joe Zborowski wrote frequently and at length to Himes about their mutual book collecting interests and about personal matters.

General Note: Notes for Marriage Hygiene

- Marriage Hygiene was a quarterly journal published in Bombay, India, by Dr. A. P. Pillary, 1934-1937. NEH served as American editor as of the second issue and was a frequent contributor. The journal was in constant financial difficulty and was the subject of a legal battle, which eventually resulted in a victory for birth control. In 1947, the journal was revived and its name changed to International Journal of Sexology the following year.
- Other correspondence and related materials re Marriage Hygiene have been indicated in the descriptions under Alphabetical Files; e.g., Greenbaum, Wolff & Ernst, U. S. Oustoms Service, Kingsley Davis, Dr. Christopher Tietze, etc.
